CAMBRIAN VOTES IN $56,000 SCHOOL BOND ISSUE IN TUESDAY ELECTION; DISTRICT REACHES BONDING LIMIT

Cambrian voters returned a resounding "yes" vote Tuesday to push through the Board of Trustees' $56,000 school bond election by a vote of 154 to 4. With the passage of this bond issue Cambrian has reached its maximum bonding capacity, thus making them eligible for further state aid.

"It was a fine show of confidence by the voters for the measures of the school," said D. M. Bagby, school principal. "They realized Cambrian needed this bond issue if school improvements were to keep pace with the enrollment figures. And realizing this, they backed the Board of Trustees and the school practically 100 per cent at the polls."

The favorable vote was one of the most overwhelming votes ever recorded in any Santa Clara county school election. Voters came to the polls from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday.

"The $56,000 will be used to ease the drastic classroom and space shortage in one of the most rapidly growing communities in the county," said Bagby. "The trustees will probably meet Monday evening to discuss how the money will be spent. An architect's plans will have to be drawn first and approved by the state before we can go ahead with the building. We should have the new buildings ready by the school year 1950."

Construction going on a present at Cambrian, with state funds, will be completed by fall of 1949, the principal stated. The new building will house six classrooms and ease the crowded conditions somewhat, he said. However, if enrollment figures jump again in the fall, as they have in the past few years, the pupils will far exceed the classroom space available for them. Every bit of space at the school is being used for classroom space at present, Bagby said.

Parents of the school children at Cambrian were deluged with facts and figures concerning the seriousness of the school condition prior to the election. Figures presented to them included the 58 per cent enrollment jump from the school year 1947-48 to 1948-49. It also stated that nine classrooms of the makeshift variety were in use at present.

Dressed in their new crimson and blue uniforms, the members of the high school band under the direction of Williard LeCroy presented a band concert on the lawn of the library building Monday for Kiwanis club members.

Many stopped to hear the selection of numbers played by the band and the Kiwanis applauded vigorously. Numbers rendered included "Sunny Spain," "Polka Dot," trumpet trio, Warren Thorpe, Lonnie Phillips, Harry Walter; "Summer Time," and "Moonlight on the Nile."

Ethan Lanphear was chairman for the afternoon. Visiting the Kiwanis was Fred Bradman of San Marino. Russ Baker was the guest student from the high school. A short resume of his various school activities was given by C. P. Klassen, instructor at the high school.

Next week's program will feature the music of the Campbell Union Grammar school orchestra. Jim Avila will be the chairman for the day.

Large Campbell Audience Turns Out To See Impressive Memorial Day Ceremonies At High School Stadium

A large and impressed audience listened silently to the inspiring and beautiful ceremony held Memorial Day in the Campbell High school stadium under the auspices of the American Legion Post, Campbell 596. Commemorating the dead of all wars, the pageant which honored American war heroes was written and directed by Col. James R. McBride of the Legion Post.

"Next year we hope the pageant can be enlarged upon," said McBride, "and that the cadet corps and the high school orchestra will participate."

Taking part in the pageant were Al Carter, Norman Corvello, Leo Park, Ron Boyle, Dr. John W. Ziegler, Jake Klassen, Fred Jones, Douglas Tennison, Jack Chappell, Julian Ortiz and Roy Zimmer. Rex Kaber and Ed Lee served as color bearers with Richard F. Lazzarini and Warren Price as color guards.

Members of the firing squad were Maurice Weeks, John Crawford, A. B. Snyder, Frank Johnson, Hal Fairchild and Z. D. Jennison. Serving as bugler was Jack Berg of American Legion Post 89 of San Jose. The public address system for the ceremony was loaned by Dennis Wilson.

Guy Smith, commander of the American Legion, said he "appreciated the cooperation of the high school and grammar school in making this first Memorial Day observance so impressive and inspiring."

Entire Community To Take Part In Big July Carnival

A community carnival will be held in Campbell in July to help raise the necessary $3000 fund for the softball lighting project at the local grammar school, reports Mrs. Mary Grey, chairman of the lighting committee. Already plans are under way to make the carnival a big affair.

The Campbell Business and Professional Women's club, original sponsors of the project, have sent out notices to all organizations in Campbell to the effect that contributions are now being accepted for the lighting project.

"Here is your opportunity to help in providing means to progress toward a better community which in turn will benefit you both directly and indirectly," Mrs. Grey said. "And the method by which we hope to collect the $3000 is simple. To raise the fund we need direct donations, and lots of support for the Community Carnival in July. We need the community's wholehearted support. A monetary indication of your interest would be most helpful at this time."

When the lights are installed at the softball field it should adequately care for the needs of the young adults, said Mrs. Grey. The youths and children would participate and oldsters could enjoy the spectator role, she added.

The cost of the lights has been greatly reduced by the large response to the appeal of volunteer help to install the lights in the park. All that remains is the buying of the material.

Cambrian Park Tract Hits Snag An Open Hearing

The Santa Clara County Planning Commission handed the supporters of the development plan for a 20-acre Cambrian Park tract a temporary setback when they took under advisement the application of Schaeffer Lands, Inc., for a rezoning of the site.

Plans of the developers include turning the tract into a $375,000 ultra modern shopping center. It would include the installation and operation of a 532-car open air theater in conjunction with the center. The shopping center itself will be provided with off-street parking space for 585 automobiles.

Principal objection to granting the application at this time came from Floyd Magee, subdivider of a 93-acre tract on opposite side of Union avenue.

Atty. Marshall S. Hall, appearing for Magee, protested that the neighborhood had not developed to the point that an ambitious enterprise of the type outlined by Schaeffer Lands, Inc. is required as a matter of public convenience and necessity.

Hall also questioned motives of the applicants in seeking a reclassification of the property.

"It sounds too much like a 'shot in the arm' to increase land values," he declared.

Questioned by Chairman Will B. Weston regarding the span of time to elapse before construction of the shopping center starts, Paul Schaeffer, head of Schaeffer Lands, Inc., said that work on the drive-in theater will start immediately, once the property has been re-zoned. He estimated it will require a year to a year and a half to complete the remainder of the project.

San Tomas Fire Destroys Garage

A fire believed to have been caused by defective electrical wiring destroyed the garage and back porch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ponessa of box 420 Hacienda Rd. in the San Tomas district.

The firemen received the call at about 9:30 a.m. The fire eaters had the fire completely under control half an hour latef.

Assistant Fire Chief Turner estimated that 1500 gallons of water was played on the flames by the San Tomas volunteer fire crew and the Cambrian fire department.

Grammar School Kids Get Treat

Thursday dawned bright and clear for the forty-odd members of Mrs. Margaret Singleton's first grade class in the Campbell Grammar school. As a result of having won the PTA attendance prize for three times in a row, the group enjoyed a picnic and ride on a miniature train owned by William Jones, Daves and Santa Cruz highway, Los Gatos. The treat, which was greatly enjoyed by the children, was arranged by Mrs. Singleton.

It's Hot—Watch Out

Volunteer firemen from Campbell dropped everything Friday morning about 11:15 to answer an alarm on N. Third street. A resident had started a grass fire which was quickly extinguished.

Residents are urged by the fire department to be cautious in the days they choose to burn grass. Friday morning was hot and windy and the fire could have been quite serious, said Fire Chief Jack Scott. Both trucks returned within 15 minutes after the alarm had sounded. Damage was slight.

Men's Club Sponsors Gala June Festival From 4-11 To Benefit Growing School's Equipment Fund

All of the spontaneity and gaiety of carnival times will prevail at the San Tomas school playground tomorrow when the opening guns sound off at 4 p.m. Booth barkers and food vendors, all from the community, will attempt to lure the expected 1000 or better patrons to their colorfully decorated specialties. Cecil Rose is chairman of the event.

Proceeds for the affair will go to a special fund to buy equipment for the school children of San Tomas, said Rose. Sponsors of the carnival are members of the San Tomas Men's club.

"There will be a booth or entertainment for every age level in the family," promises Rose. "All kinds of games and tremendous prizes will be available for adults. For the kiddies we'll have special comic reels at a nominal fee. In addition the special 'kiddies' booths, so popular last year, will be featured. We won't make any profit on these, but it gives the children something to do and entertains them, and that is what we hope to accomplish."

TO FEATURE ARCHERY

In addition to the regular games and booths the carnival will feature an archery game for patrons. In charge will be Mrs. Gene Standish, recent prize winner in the women's archery division, state league.

Dancing off the record to favorite tunes of the times will begin at 7 p.m. for a small charge, said Rose. The couples will be allowed to request their favorite dance melodies for an evening of fun.

"Many people last year wanted pictures of their children, booths, or the carnival," added Rose.

"The lighting this year will be Jeanette Witte, adult photography teacher at San Tomas night school, take photographs, any and all kinds, at the carnival. It will be a souvenir worth having."

BIG PRIZES

Prizes will be offered in a big way, said the chairman. The ladies of the community will all be vying for the hand made quilt being offered by the ladies of Smith avenue sewing circle. In addition a deep freeze unit and a deluxe table model radio will also be given away.

....."The lighting this year will be far superior to last year's carnival," said Rose. "The carnival went on for the first time last year and many things were in the experimental stage. This year we will have more effective lighting for the anticipated huge crowd."

A not-too-accurate figure of last year's gate revealed the crowd to be somewhere near the 800 mark, said Rose. However, by evening the attendance was closer to the thousand mark, he asserted. "This year we might have close to 3000 if the weather is nice."

RIDGELY TO EMCEE

Steve Ridgely, president of the San Tomas Improvement club, will officiate at the public address system as the emcee for the day. He will report on the prizes won, children lost, and entertainment features coming up.

"The cooperation we've received from the entire community of San Tomas and Campbell is gratifying," said Rose. "Every group has offered assistance in helping us to put this carnival over."

If the carnival brings surplus funds, after expenses are deducted, the men's club hopes in addition to buying school equipment, to sponsor a Boy Scout unit for San Tomas.

Aiding in the Carnival this year were the members of the San Tomas volunteer firemen. They helped put up the buildings and booths necessary for the big day, Rose said.

DRUM, BUGLE CORPS

One of the big features of the evening's entertainment will be the newly formed San Tomas school Drum and Bugle corps. They will play for two performances at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m.

The carnival will run until 11 p.m. Saturday, Rose said. The public is invited to take an active part in the many events scheduled throughout the seven hour celebreation. "Come on out," urges Rose, "and see what a good time the entire family can have at a real community carnival."

Jaycees Gather For Social Outing With Los Gatos

A bring-your-wives outing was held at Brown's Place at Visona Junction Wednesday night by the members of the Los Gatos Chamber of Commerce with Campbell Jaycees as special guests. The social affair marked the installation of Los Gatos officers.

Prior to the outing the Campbell Junior Chamber met at President Ken Roberts home on the San Jose-Los Gatos Road for a business meeting. Plans were discussed concerning the local Jaycee's booth at the San Tomas carnival Saturday. Joe Anello was appointed to run the ham and bacon booth at the school benefit affair.

Final plans concerning Charter Night, June 20 at Hawaiian Gardens, were discussed. It was announced that only Jaycee members in various local communities and Campbell men between the ages of 21-35 would be permitted to purchase bids for the festive occasion. Campbell members will visit various Jaycee meetings next week to leave bids with each treasurer.

Many out-of-town and local guests will be present at Charter Night to witness the presentation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce charter to the local group, said President Roberts. National, state and local Jaycee officers will be present at the dinner dance.

A committee, headed by John Harris, assisted by Don Gracier, will investigate the purchase of Jaycee pins for the local members. The pin, of national design, was shown to the group. It will be gold and dark blue with the local chapter's name on it.

Bob Bachman was appointed chairman of the July carnival in Campbell to raise funds for the local lighting project at the grammar school baseball field. The local Jaycees will take on the building of all frames for the booths in the two-day carnival. They also plan to maintain a booth for the big community event.

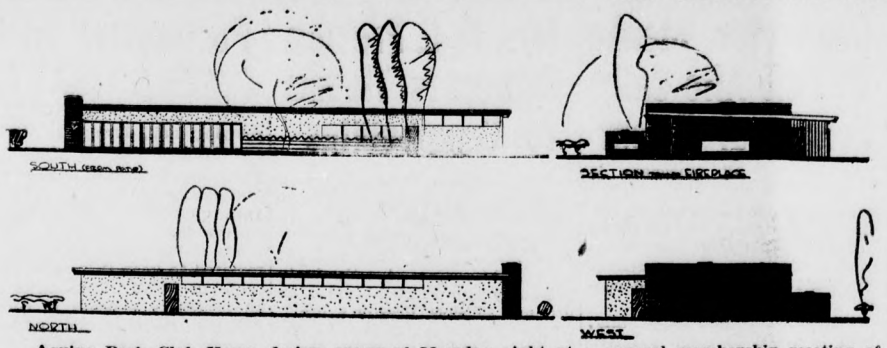
PTA and Faculty Honor Retiring School Trustee

Moreland Parent-Teacher Association and members of the school staff honored Mrs. George C. Payne at a tea held Saturday afternoon in the Moreland clubhouse. Mrs. Payne, who will retire at the close of the current school term, has been a trustee of the school for 27 years.

An orchid corsage from the Moreland pupils was presented to Mrs. Payne by Bill Price, first grade student, during the tea. Mrs. Payne also received a potted plant from PTA members in appreciation of her services to the school.

Entertainment was provided by Charlene Lisenby, tap dancer; Charles Spatafore Jr., accordionist; Owen Robertson, pianist, and Mrs. Barbara S. Traylor, vocalist. Mrs. Traylor was in charge of the program.

Mrs. R. L. Allinger, PTA president, and Mrs. Gussie M. Baker, Moreland School principal, were in charge of the affair.



Aquino Park Club House design approved Monday night at a general membership meeting of Valley Homes Inc., held at the San Tomas School.

The 4200 foot club house is to be constructed in Aquino Park as part of a two acre recreation center located on West Parr avenue.

Of modern design, the club house will be frame and stucco construction. Main feature of the structure is the large fireplace which comprises almost the entire east end of the building and extends into the large patio forming an outdoor barbecue pit.

Flooring will be of concrete, surfaced in the main hall with asphalt tile. A large service bar separates the hall from entrances to large dressing and rest rooms. A kitchen and equipment room make up the remainder of the club house. Heating other than the 12 foot fireplace will be supplied by radiant heating laid in the concrete flooring. An abundance of windows and swinging doors will give a light airy effect to the interior of the clubhouse.

A REAL VACATION!

Cambrian Youngsters Back From Big Four Day Trip To Yosemite

Thirty-five excited seventh grade children, with a few eighth grader guests boarded a chartered bus last Friday in anticipation of a four day outing trip to Yosemite State Park sponsored by the Cambrian Grammar school under the leadership of teacher George Craig.

Itinerary for the entire vacation stay was planned by the children under the student "boss" Richard Takaha, who was voted into his position by popular consent of his classmates. Leaders of the experiment in living, in addition to Craig, were D. M. Bagby, principal and Mrs. Jane Adams, teacher.

"The purpose of the trip is primarily recreational," said Craig, chief organizer. "But we want to instill in these children, at the same time they are having fun, the responsibilities and duties that are essential to any group activity."

The children roughed it in the open, using sleeping bags and cooking their own food. Cost of the trip, including transportation, food, and other expenses was $6.50.

"The cafeteria at the school came to our aid and planned the menus and the food we would need," said Craig. "When we returened Monday we were not only well fed, but those attending have experienced a real summer vacatioon and and educational trip."

All of the parents of children in the seventh grade received a cleverly planned booklet Tuesday telling them the idea, the plans and the schedules for the entire trip. At the end of the booklet was a page devoted to a pledge, to be signed by each child, accepting the responsibilities and promising cooperation during the trip. A paragraph was also provided for parents to write in any activity they felt their child should not participate in.

"The eyes of Cambrian are upon you" the booklet said in part in its message to the parents. "If you have helped make this a successful trip, you have also helped make another trip possible for the younger people in our school at a later time. You can be proud to have begun a tradition which will add pleasure and interest to the school year of other future upper graders. This is why we say 'The eyes of Cambrian are upon you.' "

Sponsors of the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gripenstraw, Miss Carmei La Malfa, Miss Leila Merrit, Mrs. David McClothlin, Paul Lozar and Mrs. George Craig. Mascot for the trip was little Alan Craig.

Eight committees were formed for the four day vacation including food and cooking equipment, personal equipment, game committee, song committee, folk dance committee, campfire program, first aid and daily program planning. Members of the seventh grade are on each of the committees.

The 20 page booklet included several popular songs and words for the children to sing during their stay. It also listed the activities for each of the four days and the menus during the entire trip.

"If this trip is successful, the affair will be an annual one," said Craig. "And from the great amount of enthusiasm we received from both parents and teachers, I'm sure this experiment will prove a complete success."

The leader went on to explain that the parents who allowed their children to go on an educational trip like this were told their children would be supervised during all of the stay. "When a parent considers that we took more adult leaders and sponsors than most summer camping trips, he realizes that the safety and interests of his child are being safeguarded completely. We had a much better disciplined group than the ordinary youth group."

Enthusiasm for the trip was so high that the Cambrian Men's club donated approximately $100 to help defray expenses.

"We're working toward a possible permanent children's camp site in the Santa Cruz mountains," said Craig. "Perhaps sometime in the future such a camp will be established for school children to attend during special week-ends of the year. It would be a great thing for the children to have."

The entire community of Campbell will sponsor the coming July carnival here to raise funds for the lights for the grammar school ballfield.

"EASY DOES IT"

By HELEN HALE

TO SAVE time during dusting, use two dust cloths, one in each hand, and the work will go twice as fast.

When polishing silverware, use the small squares of felt that come as powder puffs, and you will always have just the right sized piece of soft material for applying the polish.

Before folding clothing that has just been ironed, hang it to allow thorough drying. When completely dry, then folded, the clothing will not wrinkle as readily.

Keep a small box in the laundry room to collect buttons as well as snaps and fasteners. When you are ready for the mending, bring the box along and you will have the essential buttons for those clothes which need them.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Hot Cabbage Slaw
(Serves 5)

2 egg yolks, slighten beaten
¼ cup cold water
¼ cup vinegar
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups shredded cabbage

Combine egg yolks, water, vinegar, butter, sugar and salt. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add cabbage and reheat.

A sponge kept in the kitchen is handy to use for wiping fingermarks off cabinets. Simply dip the sponge in soapy suds and run over smudges. Then rinse the sponge in clear water and run over the same areas to remove soapy marks.

To renew corks for thermos bottles, drop in a pan of boiling water, cover for a few minutes and the corks will come out almost like new.

To prevent the drain on the kitchen sink from clogging, always run hot water through it as fast as possible after washing dishes, and grease and food particles will be washed out of the pipes.

Stains on sinks are easily removed by covering them with lemon juice or bleaching fluids. Let the bleaching agent stand for several hours or overnight if the stains are deep.

Never apply moisture to ranges while the enamel surface is still hot, or the finish may crack. If grease splatters on the range, it may be wiped with a dry cloth or absorbent paper such as a paper napkin.

Successful Parenthood

BY

MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS

Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

WE HAVE written several times lately about types of lies that children tell and what usually prompts them. But we haven't said anything about the untruths and half-truths that parents tell their children.

Recently, I heard a mother telling of something she had "put over" on her teen-age daughter. It seems that the girl had the unfortunate habit of opening her mother's mail and had come across a letter from the bank about interest due on a $2,000.00 loan. The daughter was terrified at this evidence of family insolvency and asked her mother about it. Now the loan was a business one which the mother had secured in order to take advantage of a favorable investment opportunity. But she didn't tell the girl this because she wished to keep her worried over the state of the family pocketbook in order to curb the daughter's extravagances.

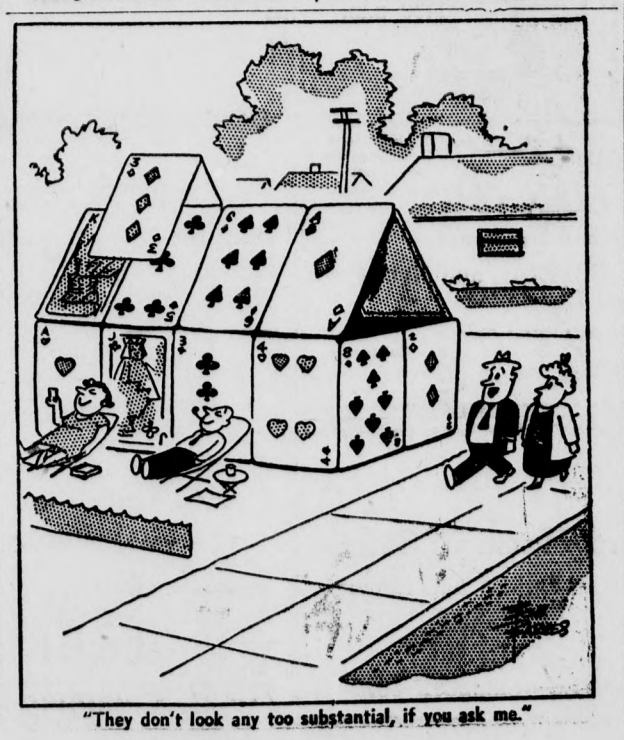
Granted that children should keep their demands well within their parents' means, this use of fear, like the threats some fathers used to make that "you're driving us all to the poor house," is a poor substitute for taking the children into your confidence. Besides, this type of lie is sure to backfire. Sooner or later the facts come out and then, like the boy who cried wolf, no one in the family will believe what you say about financial pitfalls, and the need for economy.

Another type of dissembling that is indulged in by over-conscientious parents is pretending you aren't angry with a child when you are boiling over inside. It would be far more wholesome for both of you if you would admit your anger. Say, "It makes me furious for you to leave your roller skates in the hall," instead of enduring this thoughtlessness with patient martyrdom. If you are hurt when your teen-age children criticize you, don't hide your feelings and sulk in silence. Don't take it out on them, either, by finding unnecessary fault with them.

Suppose it is your grooming which they think falls below that of their friends' mothers. Explain that if you could have a little more time to yourself you might do better in this respect—that if Betty would set the table every night you could slip upstairs to recomb your hair and freshen your makeup. Also, here's a good chance to stress the necessity for less extravagance on the children's part — fewer faddy things for them and you could afford a new blouse to change the appearance of your suit.

Actually, children like to know that their parents are human — they even like to know that they can nettle us. There is nothing that makes one feel so unimportant as a sense of having no effect whatsoever on someone you love. Yet many parents, in their mistaken efforts to appear all wise and forever calm, make their children feel just that.

Of course, constant losing of one's temper and frequent irritability create an unhappy atmosphere that is hard on children. But expressing enough honest anger to make our children realize that we mean what we are saying when we reprove them, is a good safety valve.



"They don't look any too substantial, if you ask me."

Conductor Menke Of Palo Alto Calls For Local Talent

A call for all musicians in Campbell was made today by Dr. Menke, director of the newly organized Los Gatos adult symphony orchestra. The new Los Gatos group needs many more musicians before a regularly scheduled concert series can be set up.

"Everyone in and about this area is urged to come out for our new group," Dr. Menke said. "If you can play any instrument then we can use you. And we do realize a great deal of enjoyment from our meetings."

The Los Gatos Symphony orchestra, as it is called, was organized three months ago by Dr. Menke of Palo Alto. He meets with the group twice a week in the Los Gatos high school for rehearsals.

The conductor hopes to make the orchestra a self-sufficient group with regular concerts. However, before this can be accomplished he needs the cooperation and help of a great many more musicians who can and would like to join the group.

The orchestra meets every Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Los Gatos High school. Although a small registration fee is charged, there is no obligation to join on the part of resident musicians who come once to the meetings to investigate its possibilities.

"If musicians have no instruments at present we will furnish them from the high school equipment," said Dr. Menke. "We'll rehearse all through the summer this year. Anyone interested may come to several of our meetings before considering joining the group. Just come next Tuesday ready to play."

San Tomas School Activities

Leonard Hines, reporting:

The San Tomas school has a Drum and Bugle corps. They have received six new drums and one pair of cymbals. The Drum and Bugle corps have practiced their numbers for quite a while, and are becoming quite good. The following children play bugles: Kent Vice, Mime Arnold, Gary Lukehart, Herman Nickerson, Bill Lawson, Jimmy Maxwell, Dennis McCoy, and Leonard Hinds. And on the drums are: Sylvia Woodkey, Raymond Gay, Eddie Gerrell, Orvill Cohee, Joane Minnehart and Marilyn Perata.

The children selling the most tickets for the San Tomas Carnival Saturday were Gary Lukehart, Donald Van Anglen, Ellen Stepovich and Herman Nickerson. The children are receiving five cents worth of script money, to use at the carnival, for each one dollar's worth of tickets that they sell.

The San Tomas Drum and Bugle Corps played Wednesday at the Campbell Union Grammar school for the sixth grade assembly. They will also play for the San Tomas school carnival being held Saturday, June 4. They will play at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m.

It is predicted that 3 billion federal tax dollars will distend American grocery bills this year—twice as much price support as last year, when the government spent 1.7 billions keeping farm prices high. This sum approximates the total federal budget figure for 1932.

Mrs. H. C. Preston Expresses Thanks To Campbellites

The Campbell Press received a letter of gratitude this week from Mrs. H. C. Preston, widow of H. C. Preston, who passed away recently. She asked the letter be published to express her thanks to the many who donated blood in an attempt to save Preston's life.

"Dear Friends: Because I do not know the names of the wonderful strangers and friends who so generously donated blood to the local Blood Bank during the last few weeks, specifying it was to be credited to "Hal" C. Preston so that we might draw on the blood bank for transfusions for him, I am asking you to publish this letter.

"With all their generosity, and the care given him, we were unable to kep him with us. Although he did not know all their names, he expressed his gratitude for such a show of friendliness by his former co-workers in the State Division of Architecture, and neighborliness of the teachers, firemen, friends and neighbors here in Campbell."

The letter was signed Laura C. Preston, Rt. 1, box 81, Campbell, Calif.

Moorpark School News Of The Day

The queen contest in Los Gatos struck a high point of interest among the Moorpark teachers. Pat Epperson, who entered and became queen, is a niece of Mrs. Juanita Robins, second grade teacher of Moorpark school. She was beaming with pride. Mrs. Robbins has raised Pat since early childhood.

Moreland School Now Registering

Moreland School will hold registration for the coming term for kindergarten and first grade pupils June 1, 2 and 3, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Mrs. Gussie Baker, principal, has announced.

Children who were four years of age before March 1 of this year are eligible for kindergarten and those who were five years old may enter first grade in the fall.

If it is impossible for parents to go to the school to register their children, they may phone Santa Clara 1434-J and give the necessary information. Families who plan to move into the district this summer should contact the school and enroll their children now, Mrs. Baker emphasized.

Reservoir Must Be Full If County Wants Green Orchards, Prosperity

Newcomers to the Santa Clara Valley see our dry stream beds and the sunburned hills and invariably ask: "Where is your water? What keeps all these orchards green?"

Anyone who knows this valley can answer that question. The water comes from our underground reservoir. We can't see it, but it's there.

Thomas Espy, engineer of the San Francisco Water Department and dean of water experts in Northern California, has called it one of the best underground water storage reservoirs in the world.

Espy also has said that water stored near at hand, although to get it necessitates pumping, is always cheaper than water brought in from distant points by pipeline.

The newcomers may comment that it is mighty nice to have an underground lake of water, but how did it get there and what keeps it full?

Geologists have the correct answer to the first half of that question, but in laymen's terms, the underground reservoir got there because the Valley is shaped like a basin, partly surrounded by mountains, and because of the gravel, clay and rock formations underlying the surface. The water runs off the watersheds of the mountains, percolates through the gravel beds in various parts of the lower foothills and valley, and then is contained by the clay and rock formations.

The picture is over-simplified if we imagine an underground lake with one surface, for the gelologists and engineers have determined that the water tables are on several levels.

But whether on one or more levels, the fact of the underground water remains. We know how it got there. However, it is the second part of the question which makes the local native squirm.

We don't keep it full, and we can't keep it full. And that is the Number 1 problem of the Santa Clara Valley, in the opinion of all informed persons.

Building of a sixth dam, Lexington, on Los Gatos Creek, was authorized by the people of the District in 1947. Work on the dam will start as soon as realignment of the state highway permits.

On June 14 the District will vote on a proposed $3,000,000 bond issue to build Coyote No. 2 a huge dam which will impound 75,000 acre feet of water and will complete the percolating system which the District began in 1934-35.

The success of these conservation dams, as G. Walter Hunt, engineer for the district, points out, is attested to by the fact that whereas in 1916 the underground water level stood at 10 feet below the surface, it slipped steadily downward until 1934, when it hit an all-time low of 139 feet. Then, with the building of the five dams, it climbed upward, with only one slight setback in 1938, until it reached 56 feet in 1943. But the combination of phenomenal Valley growth and dry years has driven it down to 124 feet.

It never was intended, Hunt emphasizes, that the five dams would do the job. It isn't contended now that the building of two more dams, Lexington and Coyote No. 2, will solve the problem permanently.

But those dams will solve the immediate problem of the next few years, Hunt contends, and they will solve it in the cheapest and most practical way.

Bringing water into the Valley from distant points, desirable as it may be, is still far in the future. What about agriculture and industry in the meantime? What about jobs? Gallons of life-giving water, arriving too late, are of no value to a man who is dead of thirst.

Billions of gallons of water were wasted into San Francisco Bay this past spring because Coyote Dam No. 2 was not in place to impound the heavy run-off of the Coyote River's main tributaries. The underground reservoir is there, the Water District leaders reaffirm, but it is shrinking like a wash basin drying inward from the edges. Refilling that reservoir, they assert, means life and prosperity for every resident of this valley.

Dale Carnegie

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

A HALF CENTURY ago a magazine publisher got excited over the lack of enthusiasm of the employees he contacted. Most of them were dull, apathetic, did their work in a routine way. He knew that this was a common trait of workers, for he had checked on them for 20 years.

He had learned, during these years, that those who had no enthusiasm stayed in the same groove, made little or no progress, remained pretty much at the same salary level, and changed jobs frequently.

He was so fired with indignation over this trait of the average man that he dashed off an article about it, dashed it off on the spur of the moment, at white heat. It struck home to thousands and thousands of readers, employers and employees alike.

Readers of his little magazine in which the article appeared sent for extra copies, dozens of them. Charles H. Daniels, general passenger agent of the New York Central railroad at the time, ordered thousands of copies for the employees of the railroad. Twenty years later, the publicity department, recalling the good that article had done, repeated that act.

From Russia came a big order, a copy for every soldier engaged in the war with Japan. Within a few years forty million copies had been printed. This article is called "A Message to Garcia." If you haven't read it, do so at once. No doubt your public library has it.

Now, check your associates. You will find that the man who has enthusiasm is forging ahead. He may not be vociferous, he may be a very quiet type of man; it isn't necessary for enthusiasm to make a noice. But if he hasn't enthusiasm, he will fall into a rut.

Next, check yourself. Do you want to remain all your life just where you are now? It's up to you! Just do good work, do what is expected of you, and you'll probably hold your job as long as you want it. But develop enthusiasm, do more than is expected of you, and the chances are that given time you will increase your income, your influence and power.

There's really so little enthusiasm extant that it gets a lot of appreciation. Now be careful. I don't mean noisy talk. I mean true enthusiasm, a real and true liking for your work.

Spotlight Shines This Week Again On Hot Rod Races

"Stop Dave Carter" has become the motto of competing roadster drivers at the San Jose Speedway whre the spotlight again shines on hot rod and midget racing this week.

Carter put on a torrid display of driving last weekend—maybe a little too torrid. Roadster officials last Monday afternoon, without the impetus of the above motto, suspended Carter for two racing programs because of alleged "rough driving." In Monday's feature race of the Memorial Day Hot Rod Sweepstakes, Carter's car bumped into that of Sam Hawks with Hawk's roadster doing a complete spin right out of the race.

Last Friday's regular hot rod program saw Carter in another night of great racing. His only triumph was in the 3-lap trophy dash. But in the 25-lap main event he exhibited remarkable skill by holding his car in control after going into a spin. Hhe then moved from eighth spot to third where he finished. His great driving stole the show from George Pacheco, the main event winner. In the Mamorial Day program, Carter continued his blistering pace as he established two records: one for the one-lap time trials and the other for the 25-lap main event. Carter also won the trophy dash. Sam Hawks established the third record of the day with his blistering victory in the fourth heat of six laps.

Hawks also won the other 25-lap main event. The top three men of each 25-lap race comcompeted in the feature event of the afternoon—the 10-lap Hot Rod Sweepstakes. This special event was won by George Pacheco, currently the Roadster Association's leading driver in points.

It was an all-roadster weekend at the Speedway as the regularly-scheduled midget program on Sunday night was rained out.

The Speedway's big racing weekend coming up on Friday and Saturday, June 24 and 25 has the racing world buzzing. On those two days the San Jose racing plant will present the first 24-hour Stock Car Endurance Race in racing ing history.

An expected field of 24 stock cars will commence the "carathon" on Friday, June 24 at noon. The race will continue for 12 straight hours. At midnight, Friday, the cars will cease running and take a 12-hour break. At noon, Saturday, the event will begin again and will finish at midnight. Over 20,000 fans are expected to see the gigantic program.

Roadster racing this Friday night will start with time trials at 7 and races at 8:15. On Sunday night the midgets will race at the same time.

Campbell Schools!

Today, as no time before in history, the school teacher is recognized as the builder of tomorrow's America! With juvenile delinquency increasing apace, and foreign ideologies creeping into our school books, it is high time that glowing tribute was paid to these patient men and women who instruct our young. Let's remember that teachers are human beings, not machines. Let's give them the support and confidence they so richly deserve. Let's attend PTA meetings and contribute something more than children. Campbell is fortunate in having such fine schools and outstanding educators. We applaud their work and their good American achievements!

BAIE To Exhibit Industry's Power At 2nd Exposition

The Bay Area will again exhibit its industrial strength to the West and the rest of the world at the second annual Bay Area Industrial Exposition June 4 through 12 in Oakland's Municipal Auditorium and Exposition Building.

The BAIE—largest show of its kind held west of Chicago—will prove to industrialists and the general public that the Bay Area either produces or assembles anything required by industry and can therefore take its place as one of the nation's leading industrial centers.

More than 200 exhibits by manufacturers and distributors will show new developments in hundreds of products produced in the twelve Bay Area counties: Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, Sacramento, San Francisco San Joaquin San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano, Sonoma and Yolo.

Latest post-war techniques in heavy industry, food processing, distribution and factory tooling will be dramatized in various sectional displays at the BAIE.

Special programs and luncheon meetings will be held daily during the eight-day run of the Exposition by leading industrial and trade organizations of California. Groups planning to participate as units are the California Manufacturers' Association, Purchasing Agents' Association of Northern California, San Francisco Sales Managers' and the Industrial Editors Association of Northern California.

Because the BAIE offers a productive market in itself, officials Alden Stock, president, and Oscar Fisher, Jr., Chairman have designated the hours between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. daily as a buyers' period. During this time only qualified industrialists and purchasing agents will be permitted to enter, giving the exhibitors an opportunity to show their products to a strictly industrial audience.

The Exposition will feature a "little automobile show," the only consolidated display in Northern California this year. New models of passenger cars and trucks will be shown by Ford, Dodge and Chevrolet. The outdoor area of the Oakland Auditorium will be used to exhibit heavy-duty transportation equipment that could otherwise not be shown. Allied industries will fillout the automotive section with tires, springs, accessories, gasoline and oil products.

Along with the exhibits, the BAIE will present educational features such as roundtable forums and actual demonstrations of different phases of industry. The field of materials handling will be the subjsct for one such series of technical discussions each morning and afternoon of the show. Roger D. McCoy, well-known San Francisco engineer, will be the coordinator for the materials handling sessions.

Campbell Troop 31 Visits Monument Over Holidays

Troop 31 of the Campbell Congregational church spent the Memorial Day holidays at Pinnacles National Monument. Purpose of the trip was to study nature. Scouts who participated came home with a greater knowledge of birds and their calls, said Larry Cowper, scoutmaster.

Feature of the trip was an all day hike into the hills of park. Scouts participating were: John Silberbauer, Ron Madren, Leon Maddex, Roger Schaeffle, Bob Plymale, Ed Merrill Bob Dalzell, Henry Ramp, Noel Whayley, Bill Plymale and Scoutmaster Cowper.

Chuck Cutting instructed the Scouts about the bird study. Ed Dalzell and Ed Merrill furnished transportation for the trip in a truck loaned by Committeemen Dave Sanders. Further events include a fishing trip at Pinto Lake June 11-12.

Kiddies To See Puppet Show Tonight At 7:30

"Jack the Giant Killer," a drama thriller for kiddies, will be enacted by dramatic puppets tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Campbell Grammar school, announced Ben Mabie, Moorpark school principal.

The puppet show, for old and young alike, gave its first performance today at 3:15 at the school auditorium. Admission is being charged.

Money from the puppet show will be forwarded to the Campbell fund for a community youth recreation program this summer, said Mabie. Last year's puppet show was so successful they decided to try the program again this year. The children seem to enjoy the program very much, he said.

'Miracle Of Trees Goes On June 4-5 For Last Times

With the last two performances of California's great cavalcade of world history the "Miracle of the Trees" scheduled for Saturday and Sunday afternoons, June 4 and 5 at 3:00 p.m. in the gorgeous Santa Cruz Big Trees Bowl near Felton, hundreds of Santa Cruzans, readied themselves to again act the parts of great and sinister historical figures from Caesar Augustus and Christ, to Adolph Hitler and the greatest guy of all, Mr. American Citizen.

The "Miracle of the Trees," a colorful and exciting pageant of world history, professionally directed and narrated, is acted in pantomine by hundreds of volunteers who through clever sound devices, appear to speak with the professional voices of the trained actors concealed in the Big Tree Bowl's sound effects studio. The acting, narration, and the vivid pageantry of the "Miracle of the Trees" have won praise from all critics and audiences viewing the first three performances.

Presented in honor of General George Marshall, first recipient of the annual Fellowship of Man award made by the "Miracle's" sponsor, the Big Trees Bowl Foundation, for outstanding service in the cause of world peace, the "Miracle of the Trees" is a northern California community project designed to vividly portray the story of man's quest for peace and security without loss of personal freedom.

Tickets for the spectacle are on sale at Sherman and Clay in San Francisco and Oakland, at Denny-Watrous in San Jose, and at the offices of the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce and Bowman Forgey in Santa Cruz.

Christian Science Lecture

"The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms," (Deuteronomy 33:27). This is the Golden Text of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, June 12. The subject is "God the Preserver of Man."

The following citations are included in the sermon:

The Bible: "Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall: But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint" (Isaiah 40: 30, 31).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Scriptures say, 'They that wait upon the Lord . . . shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.' The meaning of that passage is not perverted by applying it literally to moments of fatigue, for the moral and physical are as one in their results. When we wake up to the truth of being, all disease, pain, weakness, weariness sorrow, sin, death, will be unknown, and the mortal dream will forever cease" (p. 218).

Six-Inch Sermon

† REV. ROBERT H. HARPER †

With Jesus in the Upper Room. Lesson for May 22: Mark 14:12-25.

Memory Selection: I Corinthians 11:24.

Jesus observed the religious customs of His people. On Thursday of Passion Week He sent two disciples to make ready for the eating of the Passover. Throughout the city and its environs pilgrims were preparing for the paschal meal. The house in which Jesus and His disciples met for the Passover feast was doubtless the home of Mark, the gospel writer.

Even then the shadow of treachery fell in their midst. When Jesus had solemnly said that one of them should betray Him, and the disciples had said unto Him, one by one: "Lord, is it I?" Jesus replied that the man was he who dipped in the dish with Him. How it must have choked Judas to ask: "Is it I?" Jesus said to Judas: "What thou doest, do quickly." The traitor then left the upper room seemingly before the Sacrament was instituted. If so, the traitor was not included in the first sacred meal.

Jesus transformed the Jewish Passover into the Christian feast of the Lord's Supper. It is, first of all, a sacrament of remembrance of Him. Only as we look beyond the bread and the cup to the Lord himself does the Sacrament become life to our souls. The Holy Communion signifies our oneness with Christ and all Christians and brings the opportunity of pleading our continued need of the Saviour, while it gives us the privilege of declaring our discipleship to the world. In remembering Jesus, we must remember Him in the way we live. "The Holy Supper is kept indeed by whatso we share with another's need."

Mountain View To Hold Pageant

More than twenty of Santa Clara County's most beautiful girls this week started competing for the title of Queen of the Mountain View Centennial Days, which will be held at this Northern Santa Clara valley community, July 14, 15, 16 and 17.

The winning beauty will reign over four nights and three days of gala activity which opens with her coronation and the Coronation Ball featuring one of the outstanding dance bands of the Bay Area.

Mountain View, one of the oldest communities in the valley outside of San Jose, will mark the 100th Anniversary of the California Gold Rush, in which the city played such an important part as a produce center.

One of the outstanding art exhibits of the Bay Area will be presented throughout the entire four-day celebration.

A round of activities including folk dancing, by one of the premier folk dancing groups of the state will highlight the festival. Plenty of activity for young and old alike, including a colorful gayway, has been planned for the four-day event.

Each evening there will be a pageant depicting life in Mountain View from the days when it was the last stage stop on the Wells Fargo run into San Francisco, to the present time when the city has developed into one of the finest residential suburban cities in the valley.

Sunday, the final day of the Centennial, will be dedicated to the United Nations and will feature a parade of various national groups, which for years have added to the colorfulness of this city.

SUPER MARTS ABOUND IN PUERTO RICO

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, U. S. A.—The Puerto Rican housewife, on a food shopping expedition here, might as well be in New York, Chicago or San Francisco once she steps across the threshold of one of the big, modern super-markets which dot this island. Patterned after the major chain food stores on the continent, Puerto Rico's stores are big, modern and attractive.

Retail food marketing in Puerto Rico was more or less "streamlined" less than three years ago with the opening of the first shop in a new chain. Through progressive competitive marketing, they helped not merely to bring about some reductions in basic food costs, but have since helped to hold them down all along the line. The first Plaza Praco, as the stores are known, was opened to the public in 1946 and the chain has since grown to 16.

Modern, self-service "super markets" patterned after the major chain food stores on the continent now abound throughout the island of Puerto Rico, U. S. A. The first Plaza Praco, as most of these big, airy and clean super marts are called, was opened to the public in 1946 and the cash-carry-system they introduced has since spread generally to all food stores on the island.

Cash-Carry Policy Widespread

Since food is imported almost in its entirety from the mainland, Puerto Rico growing little of its basic food requirements, there was little if any food at reasonable prices to be found here. The colmados or general stores, in city as well as rural areas, set their own prices, and set them high, especially for the staples which were carried by ship and often by plane from the mainland. They fostered, in many cases, the "charge system" which always involves higher costs to the consumer.

The Plaza Praco stores launched the continentally-popular "cash and carry" practice which has since spread generally to all food stores on the island.

Lower prices in the Plaza Praco shops is due to the company's policy of setting a reasonable mark-up on all its items, often well below that of the "charge system" shops. This policy plus sales in large quantity allow the company to keep a steady supply of fresh foods on the shelves here.

Native Products Abound

Puerto Rico's dependence for food on the mainland lies in the agricultural problems of the island, long given over mainly to sugar. But Plaza Praco especially is now buying about 90 per cent of its fruits and vegetables direct from island farmers and, further, gives the planters expert advice on planting.

Advice and guidance to the growers is expert and will, it is expected in the long run, help considerably to improve the local food-growing problems, since it is part of the program of the government - sponsored Puerto Rico Agricultural company operating under the direction of Thomas Fennell. The Praco stores are part of the agricultural company system, but the information to planters and farmers is not limited to those supplying the government stores.

Plaza Praco markets are, of course, strategically located throughout the island, but five are located in the populous San Juan area where more than 10 per cent of the island's total population is concentrated.

"Continentals" Feel At Home

"Continentals," as American mainlanders are known here, are increasing in numbers, because of the recent trend to industrialization and the growing commercialism resulting from the post-war economic revival. Many American families are here working at careers, and the "lady of the house" looks first to neighborhood markets for the "staff of life." Grocery stores have undergone widespread modernization and the "super market" plan is already in wide use.

As "profit" stores working on the same margin as stores in the States, Praco shops are confronted by some problems peculiar to the island. Personnel training is among the foremost of these. The Puerto Rican system of cutting meat, for example, is entirely different from that used in the States. So all employees in the Praco meat departments must be retrained on the job to cut and bone meats according to the system American shoppers in particular are familiar with, in order to satisfy both the "native" and the continental" shopper.

Although the Praco stores are not air-conditioned, all equipment is thoroughly modern and includes up-to-date frozen food bins, a sprinkler system for keeping vegetables fresh and ample fluorescent lighting.

Although staples, canned products or dry foods run higher than they do at the neighborhood grocery in any American city, food costs in Puerto Rico advanced less in the last five years than they did in the states

Union Discusses Improvement Plans For Area

Plans for a community improvement project were discussed at the May meeting of the Union district 4-H club, which was held at the new Union Grammar school. Gloria Alvernaz, club president, conducted the meting under the guidance of Paul Ridley and Mrs. E. C. Polen, club and clothing leaders.

During the meeting, Yvonne Norstad and Gloria gave a demonstration showing members and their parents the proper methods to use in removing spots from clothing.

George D. Shambrook, assistant farm advisor, was a visitor of the club and discussed the 4-H club rabbit project. He stressed the importance of the proper feeding of rabbits by club members if they are to show any profit at the end of the year. Shambrook stated that most club members are feeding too much to the rabbits which is cutting into their net profit. He advised club members who are raising rabbits to call him at 210 Post office building, San Jose, or call Col. 3866 for definite information about management for this project.

TALL TALES OF '49—James W. Harris, who has spent practically all of his 80-odd years right in the little "ghost town" of Columbia, entertains 5-year-old Skipper Davis, also a Columbia resident, with tales of Columbia's greatness when, as "Gem of the Southern Mines," the then-bustling community sought to become capital of the new State of California. Hard characters such as Joaquin Murietta and Black Bart were active in Harris' childhood and youth. Skipper says he would take care of them now with his trusty six-gun. The 1949 Gold Rush Centennial is being celebrated at Columbia under auspices of the California Centennials Commission on July 15-16-17.

County Residents Must Dig Deep For Added Taxes

The 289,000 people of Santa Clara county will have to pay $289,000 in additional taxes for every $10,000,000 of special appropriations which the legislature passes, California Taxpayers' association declared today.

On the other hand, the people of the county will save $289,000 in state taxes for every $10,000,000 the state legisulature cuts from the state's $1 billion plus budget proposal, the Taxpayers' organization said, urging that rigorous economy be the order of the day in Sacramento.

There are more than $800,000,000 of special appropriation bills in the legislative hopper.

"New and increased state taxes impend, unless the state budget is reduced substantially, Prop. No. 4 is repealed, and the legislature clamps a tight lid on special appropriations," the association warned.

"In the long run, regardless of what level of government collects the taxes or what level of government spends the money, the people must foot the tax bill.

"All the tens of millions of dollars of spending which the federal, state, and local governments do mean a tax bill per capita for Californians of about $500 a year.

"If that tax bill is to be reduced, government spending from Washington right down the line to the smallest local government must be cut."
